

The first thing I saw when I stepped out of the car was a warm blanket of snow. The air was crisp and clean, a stark contrast to the humidity of the city I had just left. The snow-covered rooftops and the quiet streets were a sight I had never seen before. It felt like I had entered a new world, one where the pace was slower and the beauty was more serene. I took a deep breath, savoring the cold air, and knew that this was a place where I belonged.
